

THE SOUTH AFRICA AND TUGELLA FALLS CIRCUIT

COLOURFUL AFRICA

On this journey, you will finally understand why South Africa is often called a small world. You can experience the mountainous face of Africa on a trek to one of the highest waterfalls in the world, Tugella in Drakensberg.

Afterwards, you can take a break on the endless white sandy beaches of the Indian Ocean, perhaps while eating a tuna steak that you caught all by yourself. In the last absolutist kingdom on the continent, the mountainous Eswatini, you will have a chance to visit traditional craftsmen, and then take the panorama road with its breath-taking lookout points over the largest green canyon in the world all the way to the iconic Kruger National Park. If you are lucky, it is here, among the landscape full of acacias and baobabs, that you will meet all of the Big Five: lions, leopards, buffalos, elephants and rhinos.
